

Has A New Warden

Donald Hickey, World War Veteran, Assigned To Rockland District

Donald R. Hickey, 27, of Calais, has joined the department of Sea and Shore Fisheries warden forces, under the Veterans Apprentice Training plan and has been assigned to Supervisor Frank Halliwell in the Rockland district. Hickey who served three years in the Navy as a machinist has had considerable experience as a practicing fisherman in Washington county waters. After a period of training he will be eligible for a permanent assignment.

Many Still Jobless

Veterans Who Are No Longer entitled To Compensation

The Veterans Administration announces that 15 percent of the veterans who filed claims for unemployment compensation a year or more ago are no longer entitled to it. VA said that 50,471 have had time—52 weeks—to exhaust their $20 a week readjustment allowance. By Jan. 1, it added the number may increase to 115,000. In September alone, the last full month for which complete figures are available, 10,339 veterans exhausted their allowance. Many are believed to be still jobless.

In Bad Accident

Warren Woman Suffers Skull Fracture In Brunswick—Drunken Driving Charged

Arrested following an all-night check of an accident which occurred near the Bath Iron Works fabrication plant at Hardings, Jane Sawyer, of Warren, pleaded guilty to drunken driving in Municipal Court Wednesday, and paid a fine of $150 and costs and a fine of $5 and costs for operating without a license.

She was then taken to Dr. Wilson's Hospital in Brunswick by State Patrolman George Buzzell, where she was found to be suffering from a skull fracture, a fractured ankle and facial abrasions and contusions.

According to Buzzell, she was the driver of a car which was involved in an accident shortly before midnight Tuesday. She had been removed from the scene before police arrived, Buzzell said.

There will be a story hour at the Library Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Lucy Risser will be the story teller.

assignment on the warden force. For the past several months he has been employed at Augusta by the State Department of Public Buildings. He is married and has one child. Hickey replaces trainee Frederick Davis of Addison who has resigned from the force.

"BERT" SUBBED FOR "DUCKY"

And Rockland Man Got a Big Hand At the Football Banquet

A. C. "Bert" McLoon, Rockland's first football captain, way back in 1891, filled in for "Ducky" Pond of Bates, who was fogged in on the highway between here and Lewis and phoned that he couldn't make it, at the football banquet in the High School gym Tuesday night.

He told of the first team and described the rules and the game at that time and the dress of the players, mentioning the fact that they played 45 minute halves, with no rests at quarter time as there is today. The touchdown counted four points and a goal from the field, five points.

The original squad had but 13 players and even at that the regulars were so well that the subs didn't get a chance to play in a regular game all season. The score of the Rockland-Bates game that year was 128 to 0 in Rockland's favor.

He was given a big hand by the group which had more than enjoyed his account of the first football team Rockland ever had. A total of 49 persons attended the turkey banquet which the fathers of the team members had prepared and served. The squad members, plus the cheer leaders, the coaches and faculty members were present.

Coach McDougal stated that he was proud to have worked with the squad during the season and that it had completed what could be considered a good season with about an even break on wins and losses.

The season was started with 14 lettermen, all of whom repeated this year and including Perley Axtell who came back from the serious game of being a GI for the duration and taking up school sports where he dropped them when he entered the service. Former lettermen receiving awards were Osmond F. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Osmond A. Palmer, Paul M. Payson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Payson, Joan Look, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Look and Walter White, son of Col. and Mrs. C. White of Hope, members of the University of Maine combined Glee Clubs, will be members of the company for the presentation of a variety show, termed a "musical extravaganza," on Friday, Dec. 6. The show will be given in the Memorial Gymnasium on the Maine campus, and will take the form of an evening in a night club, during which the club members will present skits, songs and specialties.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin French were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Di Napoli in Waldoboro Tuesday night.

A Unified Policy

Com'r Reed Bringing Fisheries Department Onto Businesslike Basis

Adoption of general orders for a unified working policy, discipline and service requirements for Sea and Shore Fisheries wardens, is announced by Commissioner Reed.

Reed said that the move was made to assure the fishing industry of a businesslike administration of its department and to "mould a smooth running organization." He said that the orders had been prepared by Chief Warden Malloy after an exhaustive study of the policies of other State and out of State conservation and law enforcement services.

The orders, which become effective immediately, outline the duties and requirements of a coastal warden and demand strict observance of the basic principles of good government and efficient service. Penalties of suspension, fines and possible dismissal from the service are provided for in the event of violations of the orders.

Reed said that promulgation of the orders was no reflection on the activities of the many good men on the present warden force but were considered to be a sound approach towards a uniform method of administration of the department's activities and policies.

"One of the principal things that we are insisting on is that a warden devote his full time to the job for which he is being paid and that while in uniform our men will be broad and enthusiastic workers for the welfare of the fishing industry," Reed said.

Headings of the general orders include: Incompetency and Misconduct, Alcoholic Beverages, Commercial Fishing, Other Business for Employment or Profit, Information, Weekly Reports, Warrants, Communications, Advocating Law Changes, Revocation of Licenses, Discipline and Duties.

"We firmly believe that cooperation and understanding of the problems of conservation is the best form of law enforcement," Reed said.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Canton Lafayette will hold a rehearsal tonight at 7.30. Refreshments will be served.

LAWES VISITS THOMASTON PRISON

Former Warden At Sing Sing Speaks In High Praise Of the Institution

Former Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing Prison visited the Maine State Prison at Thomaston Wednesday, speaking briefly to the inmates in morning and afternoon sessions and to members of the guard force.

Lawes, in an interview with a Courier-Gazette representative, highly commended the Maine institution as one of the better prisons in the country, comparable to any of like size and better than a great many.

In one of the shops, Lawes encountered an inmate who was the first inmate he contacted at Sing Sing when he took over there as warden in January of 1920. The inmate, whom Lawes knew by the name of "California" recognized the distinguished visitor to his shop and called him by name. Recognition on the part of Lawes was equally as quick.

Lawes, who retired from the warden's office in 1941, was engaged during the war in work with the War Production Board and visited penal institutions in 47 States in his work. Wednesday was his first visit to the Thomaston prison and one which made his tour of the prisons of the nation complete.

He toured the prison in company with Warden Francis J. McCabe, inspecting all the shops and other parts of the establishment. His comments were more than favorable to the inmates.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

A 23-year-old Rhode Island man has been married six times in the past four years. He is also a stepplejack. Believes in taking chances, that had does.

Nobody would begrudge cold weather at this late season of the year, if that draftee John Lewis wasn't holding up the coal supply.

A copy of the Swedish newspaper "Stockholm Tidningen," published in February 1931, comes to my desk through the kindness of Perley A. Axtell, who found it serving as the wrapping for a parcel. It was a form dable looking publication, but my limited knowledge of the Swedish language forbids intelligent comment.

Wednesday was the 48th anniversary of that unforgettable storm in which the steamers Portland and Pentagoet were lost, and such widespread damage was done to shipping along the New England coast. The Pentagoet was commanded by Capt. Orris Ingraham of Rockland. Miss Blanche Ingraham is the sole survivor of a family which boasted five steamboat captains.

he was believed to have died. Dr. Harry Kopmann of Deer Isle, said Robbins was dead when he arrived.

Surviving besides Robbins' widow and brother are two sons, Ralph, Jr., 12, and Herbert, 9, who were not at home when their father was shot.

Elks Memorial Sunday will be observed at the Home coming Sunday with exercises beginning at 7 p. m. The eulogy will be delivered by Past Exalted Ruler E. W. Pike, and the program will include vocal solos by Mrs. Ray Foley and instrumental music by Harvey's orchestra. The public is invited.

TWICE-A-WEEK

Book Review

K. S. F.

"Red Morning." Author Ruth Frazier Fry. Publisher G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

The French and Indian wars have provided the background for this historical novel which is full up with a variety of joy and trouble. The author draws much from family records and has enriched it greatly by deep and long research through many personal journals of the times, with also State data collections.

Virginia was the birthplace of Jane the heroine. She loved adventure and grew weary of her staid home life. She longed to travel into the West and live the frontier life. She married an English officer with the promise that he would take her to the Ohio, the then frontier land.

Death came to Jane's English officer husband, who soon married of this Western life, and Jane did not care to go back to her home. Later she met another man, John Frazier, and fell in love with him, although he was not a man with her zest for adventure. A turbulent life was theirs, with Indian foes on every hand. She was captured and carried off, but she managed to escape and through severe hardships arrived home to find her husband in the arms of another woman. She got him back by lessons of tolerance and patience. A thriller, this story.

"Pacific Crest Trails." By Joseph T. Hazard. Superior Publishing Company, Seattle 1, Washington.

This author—mountaineer, geologist, teacher, editor and traveler—was born in Texas.

Early in life he was taken with his grandfather, on many hikes and traveled into the majestic solitude and vastness of the mountains of the West. As he grew into manhood he learned their secrets and penetrated their unknown heights.

He is wise in all matters of mountain trails and has mapped out the best of them in our country, and stands as the leader in assisting parties up through our grand mountains.

The book is delightfully frank, and written in a most friendly and thrilling, intimate manner. Pacific Crest Trails' appeals to the armchair traveler as well as those who go out and climb. What a delight to know that our mountain country has all these marvelous camp-places and trails, with protection from becoming lost and giving our youth chance to learn the beauty of our own country.

The book is full up with rich stories of mountain life. The author knows how to tell a story and carries his readers into the heart of his adventures. A book every man with zest for the beauty of nature will relish.

GAIN IN SEASONAL EMPLOYMENT

The seasonal employment decline which Maine suffered in September was regained in part last month, reaching a level of 115,400 workers. This is a rise of 1.1 percent according to Wendell D. Macdonald, Regional Director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor. Increased activity in the lumber industry was the chief factor in the expansion. The increase of 3,000 workers in woods operations more than offset a decline of 1,700 employees in food products and a slight falling off in employment in the leather and leather products industry. October employment in Maine was 9 percent over October a year ago, and 19 percent higher than the 97,000 workers employed in September, 1939, the month when war broke out in Europe. The current level of manufacturing employment is 21 percent below the wartime peak of 147,000 factory employees working in Maine in March, 1943.

COULD BE OF MUCH USE

The Mead War Investigating Committee, by a straight party vote, defeated the Republican motion to send a subcommittee to Europe to study occupation costs and administration. Senator Owen Brewster was strongly in favor. Under ordinary conditions such trips might savor of "junketing," but nobody knows better about their value under the present conditions than does the Maine Senator who has been around the world, and is perhaps the best posted man in international affairs that Congress boasts today. We are too far away from the scene of action to know the real ins and outs, and the investigation committee proposed by the Republicans would seem to have a valuable purpose.

SOIL CONSERVATION GROWING

Few agricultural movements have experienced such wholehearted farmer acceptance as the soil conservation district movement. Already all States have enacted soil conservation district laws, and more than 1700 districts have been organized in the nation, which should leave no doubt in Knox-Lincoln County farmers' minds, that farmers are determined to work together to build a sound and well balanced agriculture through conservation farming. The hearings and referendum on the Knox-Lincoln Soil Conservation District organization will no doubt be held in the near future. Farmers are urged to attend the hearings and vote in the referendum when announced by the State Soil Conservation Committee.

PERSONAL DIPLOMACY MAY HELP

It is now more than five months since the Foreign Ministers of the Big Four met in Paris on June 15. During most of that time Mr. Byrnes and Mr. Molotov were in the same city, either Paris or New York, meeting officially very frequently. Yet, when the two met privately yesterday it was only the third such occasion—aside from brief courtesy calls and casual contacts—in the whole, long period of intense joint activity. This fact, in itself, constitutes a curious commentary on Soviet-American diplomatic intercourse.

No one can be naive enough to assume the personal relationships of two conscientious representatives of great powers such as Russia and the United States, men who are not heads of states, can provide the key to harmony or disharmony. There have been cases of the sort in history, but they could hardly be duplicated under existing conditions. It does appear, however, that a long succession of formal meetings, attended by all the panoply of secretaries and protocol, is almost ideally suited to freeze diplomatic attitudes and create boredom and friction without end. Moreover, meetings of the Big Four, however informally conducted, necessarily imply the assemblage of a highly complex and very extensive set of interests, sensitive to every nuance of every discussion of every problem that comes before the group. Therefore, it is not unfair to assume that the gears of diplomacy might well have been better lubricated at Paris and in New York if Mr. Byrnes and Mr. Molotov had been in closer and less formal contact with each other.

To be sure, such private meetings as that held yesterday are not always easy to arrange. They may create suspicions of secret agreements or be interpreted as signs of weakness and indecision. But it surely cannot be claimed that the formal approach to diplomacy has been markedly successful in bringing Russia and America closer. Perhaps a little personal diplomacy may help. —Herald Tribune.

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

Put to you straight, the story's this:

No car made today is coming to you fast as its makers would like.

It stands to reason that the car most wanted is not going to be the easiest to get.

But that car will have what you're aiming for.

Style that's no mere one-year wonder—but smart and clean and right in a way that lasts.

Power—plenty of it—a big bonnetful of Fireball straight-eight power, smooth as cream pouring from a pitcher.

Size and roadability and easy-handling—this car will be a travel-wise honey that hugs the road as though it loved it!

There will be smoothness and steadiness you haven't known before—and putting it all together for you a hard-driving production outfit that's staging a notably successful battle against shortages and slow-downs.

If it takes longer to get a Buick than anyone thought a few months back, it has also proved itself as a whale of a lot more automobile than folks expected!

So skip today—give a thought to tomorrow—and plan ahead for something good.

Get your money down on a Buick, available for future delivery—with or without a car to trade.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Myron E. Young who made a noble sacrifice Dec. 2, 1903. There is some one who misses you sadly. And finds time long since you went. But my heart just aches with sadness. And my eyes shed many tears. God alone knows how I miss you. At the end of three long years. Sadly missed by Wife and Daughters.

IN MEMORIAM

(A Tribute to Abbie Burgess Grant) Out of the pages of a dimming past Where the waves of memory roll Comes a story of a woman's undying faith.

And a woman's courageous soul. Half a century this woman has slept. But her heart just aches with sadness. No martial music disturbed her dreams.

No banner to silently wave. High up in a lonely high-house tower. Her service she freely gave.

No lace or ribbons no silken gowns to adorn. Only a heart true and brave.

No fear of the boom of the tempest she gave. The billows of the storm brought no care.

One day from out of the timeless sea Love came and found her there.

She has kept her light, trimmed and burning bright. To guide the ships on their way.

But she has left far more to come down to us. In this, a far-off day.

A heritage of faith untarnished and bright.

A flame to burn constant and pure. Her memory a beacon, a duty fulfilled.

A spirit of love to endure. May the angels have given her a charge.

That only the faithful may know. Where she may send out the rays of heavenly light.

To brighten our path here below. So as we commemorate the soul of her Who gave freely of love and truth.

We leave her here to rest in peace By the side of the friends of her youth.

—Margaret Ewell.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our heartfelt gratitude to friends who sent flowers, furnished cars and evidenced their sympathy during our late bereavement, especially the employees of the Thorndike Hotel.

Mrs. Inez Rockliffe and family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who showed their kindness to us during the illness and death of Mrs. Ralph C. Clarke. We deeply appreciate the many floral offerings and the use of the cars for the funeral.

Ralph C. Clarke, daughters Priscilla and Carole, sisters and brother.

The meeting of the Y.P.C.U. was held Sunday night with Captain William Winthrop, "The Flying Santa Claus," as guest speaker. He told of many interesting and exciting experiences that he had in South America. The "Y" invited the "Youth Fellowship" to hear this interesting speaker. Next Sunday it will be a split meeting for the boys and girls. Everyone is urged to be there as near 7 as possible.

City Manager Farnsworth has announced that there is little hope that the city will receive the three Case sidewalk plows, which have been ordered since spring, for use this winter, due to continued strikes in the plant where the plows are manufactured. The same situation exists for the new plow units for trucks now operating in the Highway Department.

The proper "Y" plow has arrived for the Walters Snow-fighter and has been installed which will allow that unit to be used to a much greater advantage this year than last when it had only a blade plow. The overhead snow loader will be placed in operation and should greatly simplify the snow removal work on streets of the business section.

Ear and eye tests are being given by all homeroom teachers to all pupils in Junior and Senior High.

Townsend Club No. 1 will hold a rummage sale Dec. 5, in the afternoon, at Grand Army Hall. Any one having articles may leave them at 30 Masonic street or send card to Nellie Saunders at same address and some one will call for them on that date. Picnic supper for all numbers at 6 p. m. sharp.—adv.

What you should expect of your Telephone Company

If you're a customer — You pay the bills and expect rates consistent with the costs of providing telephone service. Rates have not been increased since 1925, but it is difficult to keep them at those levels in the face of today's generally rising costs.

If you're an employee — You do the work. You should expect pay, according to your skill, that will maintain your living standard with that of others doing similar work. Your wage increases have been substantial in the past few years.

If you're a stockholder — It's your money which in part builds our plant and buys our equipment. It is this money which makes telephone service possible. You should expect a fair return on your investment.

A Healthy Business ... Good for All Three
In the face of sharply increased costs for practically everything that goes into telephone service, it's still the company's job to fulfill its obligations to all three groups. All three must be served fairly if we are to have a healthy business that can fill New England's growing telephone needs.

The Story of a Feature Story..
About the only men in newspaper business who don't work under the ever darkening shadow of an hourly deadline are the Feature Writers. Feature Writer Richard Hallett's articles are timely, but not last-minute news. There's generally a good deal of research necessary before Mr. Hallett puts words on paper. It's his job to make these stories of local events, important Maine people or famous Maine spots, factual yet interesting, informative reading.

BEHIND Your Portland Papers

There's no substitute for expert knowledge and modern machinery in publishing a newspaper. From the man who writes or edits the story, right through to the actual distribution, it takes skill and experience to produce your Portland Papers.

Engraver R. H. Howland's camera will reproduce in tiny dots the photograph on the "object" board. The darker the area on the original picture, the larger the dots will appear on the finished plate.

Pressman Gabriel Kilbrie now has both copy and pictures on the press. The thousands of dots that stand up above the background of the picture will take ink and produce clear photographic results in the paper.

Dr. Lowe In Thanksgiving Message, Gives His Opinion of John L. Lewis

Rev. Dr. John Smith Lowe delivered a Thanksgiving message at Wednesday's meeting of the Rockland Lions Club and incidentally paid his respects to John L. Lewis, who, and he quoted: "Doesn't give a tinker's damn" what happens to the country.

He said, in part: "Frequently during the last 12 of fancy work and aprons are Mrs. Annie Thomas, Mrs. Louise Walker and Mrs. Rose Norwood. Vegetables and canned goods will be in charge of Mrs. Eva Webster and Mrs. Morse; rummage in charge of Mrs. John Andrews and Mrs. Charles Burgess and the food table will be presided over by Mrs. Addie Harvell. There also will be rugs and quilts on sale.

The Baptist Circle will have an all-day session Wednesday. A covered dish luncheon will be served followed by work on the quilt. The gentlemen of the parish are invited to luncheon.

Mrs. Mae Halford, who has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Sykes, left Wednesday for San Bernardino, Calif., where she will join her niece, Mrs. Carolyn Patterson.

Judge Buzzell of Belfast was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting Nov. 26. His subject was "You and I In a World of Confusion," giving much food for thought with statistics on the per capita National Debt which confronts the children born today.

"As Thanksgiving Day draws near, we shall do well for a people to humbly thank God for our country, our free economy, our democratic institutions, and redediyears I have appeared before the meetings of the Lions Club in response to your invitation. In doing so I have thus far come before you in my capacity as a speaker. On this occasion, I come before you for the first time in my customary capacity as a preacher. It is a Thanksgiving message I was asked to give. It is a Thanksgiving message I bring.

"On that first Thanksgiving day our fathers thanked God for a slender harvest that afforded them some hope of deliverance from a Winter of starvation and death. In this year of 1946 A. D., as Thanksgiving Day draws near, with unprecedented wealth and power in our possession, we are face to face with the threat of a national disaster that might mark the beginning of the end of our great nation. I am not predicting and I am not expecting any such national catastrophe, but I am not laughing off the ugly threat.

"As we meet today in the spirit of Thanksgiving, our government, for the time being has been slugged into a corner, its authority defied and rendered impotent. As a result our streets are darkened, lights are dimmed, fires are going out, transportation is curtailed, workers are forced out of their jobs and industrial paralysis is creeping over the nation. All of this because one man backed by his union has the power to put himself and his union above the laws of the land and the constitution of the United States. When any man is allowed to acquire that much power, in our country he has too much power and it is time to call a halt.

"As Thanksgiving Day draws near, we shall do well for a people to humbly thank God for our country, our free economy, our democratic institutions, and rededi-cate ourselves to the sacred responsibility of never putting our own selfish interests above the supreme interests of the nation as a whole."

In A Fine Thanksgiving Service—Sermon By Rev. Curtis L. Stanley

"Think and Thank" was the subject of Rev. Curtis L. Stanley's sermon at the Union Thanksgiving service in the First Baptist Church Wednesday night—a sermon characterized by one of the speaker's contemporaries as one of the best he ever heard delivered on an occasion of this kind.

Mr. Stanley summarized the blessings of self, home, country, nature, education, and the Christian Church, closing with the blessings of the loving will of God.

The highly interesting and eloquently delivered address included quotations from two American presidents the late Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

Other pastors participated in the services, as follows: Invocation, Rev. A. G. Hemstead; reading of the Proclamation, Rev. C. Wendell

YES MAN

My name is John Sawyer. I'm the "Yes" man at Personal Finance Co. . . that is — I'm the man who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal Loans.

You see — I'm the manager of our office — the man who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "yes" to requests for loans — the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $250 or more is our ONLY business — that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time — whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time — you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you. There's a monthly charge of 2½% on a balance over $150, and a 3% charge on $150 or less. Small loan statute license No. 35.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "yes" won't you? I'll consider it a favor. See me at Personal Finance Co., 2nd Floor, Wotton Block, or phone me at Rockland 1133.

Agricultural Notes

Percy Hodgdon, Wiscasset, is planning to thin about five acres of pine this winter. A. D. Nutting, forestry specialist, assisted Mr. Hodgdon in his marking.

Plans are underway for a meeting to discuss the organizing of a soil conservation district for Knox and Lincoln Counties. The Knox meeting will be held Friday afternoon, Dec. 13, at 1:30 in Union Town Hall. The Lincoln County meeting will be at the North Nobleboro Community Building, Friday night, Dec. 13, at 8.

All farmers interested in soil conservation work should plan to attend. There will be a movie, as well as speakers from the State soil conservation service.

Farm account books are available at the Extension Office, Post Office Building, Rockland. Charge of 25 cents to pay for the cost of printing.

Farmers who plan to build a buck rake next year should get out the material this winter. Information on construction of one of these rakes may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Service, Rockland. One of the best ways to mount this rake is on the front of a dump truck. Use the hydraulic hoist to lift the rake.

With The Homes

Program planning training classes will be held soon for all chairmen and secretaries. At these classes the women receive instructions and suggestions for conducting their local planning meeting.

The three classes are scheduled for Wiscasset, at the Woman's Club Rooms, on Dec. 3, at 1:30; Washington, at the home of Mrs. Harriet Jones, Dec. 5, at 1:30; and Rockland, Court House, Grand Jury rooms, Dec. 6, at 1:30.

A new bulletin published by the United States Department of Agriculture on "Make Ours From Leather Fur and Felt" is now available at the Agricultural Extension Service Office, Box 415, Rockland.

4-H Club Notes

Evangeline Barbour, secretary of White Oak 4-H Club of North Warren reports that a club room has been rented at the White Oak Grange Hall. The girls are cleaning and preparing the room and are going to paper and paint it. A stove has already been donated by one of the neighbors. Mrs. Hazel Gammon is leader with 12 members taking 29 projects.

Jeanette Upham, secretary of Meadow View Club of North Union, reports that the leader, Mrs. Athlene Blake, demonstrated the cooking of cereal with fruit at the last meeting.

Mrs. Edna Moore, leader of the Warren Wonder Workers, demonstrated "Carrot Cooking" at the last meeting. The treasurer of this club reported $20 in the club treasury.

Thomaston Tip Top girls worked on needle books and holders at the last meeting. So reports the secretary, Edith Hunt. Refreshments were served by Marilyn Benner, Marita Butler and Edith Hunt.

"Sun Shine Girls" is the name of the new club in North Appleton, with Mrs. Lillian Reed as leader. Dorothy Pease was elected president; Gloria Mank, vice president; Evira Reed, secretary; Ellen Hamelin, treasurer; Nancy Pease and Lucille Jackson, color bearers; Norma Jackson, club reporter; Patricia Perry and Frances Reed, cheer leaders. The girls started making patch work aprons. Refreshments were served by Frances and Ellen Reed. The next meeting will be held Dec. 7, at 1 p. m. at the home of the leader.

The Daisy Club of West Washington, held a regular business meeting, Saturday, Nov. 23, at which, plans were made for a judging contest. At next meeting, Dec. 18, and the sewing girls made holders after the meeting.

A temperature slightly above freezing, damp air, and protection from rats and mice are important points in storing most vegetables.
